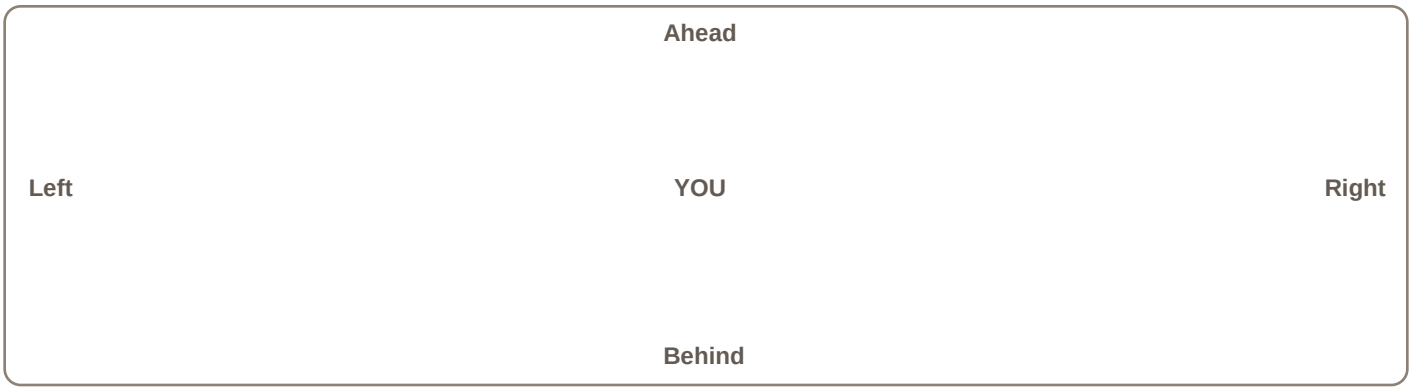
Listen to a room

Make a map of one minute. Then give a later version of yourself two sentences that could only have come from here.

Place _____ Day _____ Time _____

1. Put three marks on the map

From one spot, notice up to three sounds. Put a number on the map for each, near or far from YOU. Add a few words beside it. Use a question mark for uncertain direction. If listening is difficult, mark visible movements instead.



2. Give the moment a verb

Circle one mark. What did it do: tick, scrape, stop, drift? Choose a second mark that changed while you listened.

Fictional example: left, near - a spoon taps twice. Ahead, far - the bus doors hiss shut. Behind - a fan keeps humming.

3. Write the postcard

Start with the close detail. In the next sentence, bring in the second detail and say why you want to remember this moment.

Example: Dear later me, my spoon tapped the cup twice before the bus doors hissed shut outside. I want to remember how quiet breakfast felt in the pause between them.

Dear later me,

_____

_____

_____

Facilitators may print this original worksheet for a group with credit to Honest Little Apps.

Explore Dear You: Daily Letters on the App Store